Book collections

The Chadwick Library has a collection of print and e-books covering a wide range of subjects. In addition, you also have access to the book collection held at STFC's RAL Library. You can check which books we have on our online catalogue. You can also use the catalogue to renew loans, reserve on-loan books, and request items from the RAL Library. You may have up to 2 items on loan at any one time. The standard loan period is 2 months.

The Halton Collection is a bespoke collection of fiction and "reading for pleasure" non-fiction books, as well as a number of e-resources including e-books, online audio books, and e-newspapers, provided by Halton Borough Council.

Journal articles, standards and patents

We can provide you with copies of journal articles, standards and patents, and books not held in our collection, which we can order on your behalf from the British Library. Simply send us details of the publication you wish to access through the Request an Interlibrary Loan service on our website.

Guests can request up to 24 items per year through this service (2 items per month).

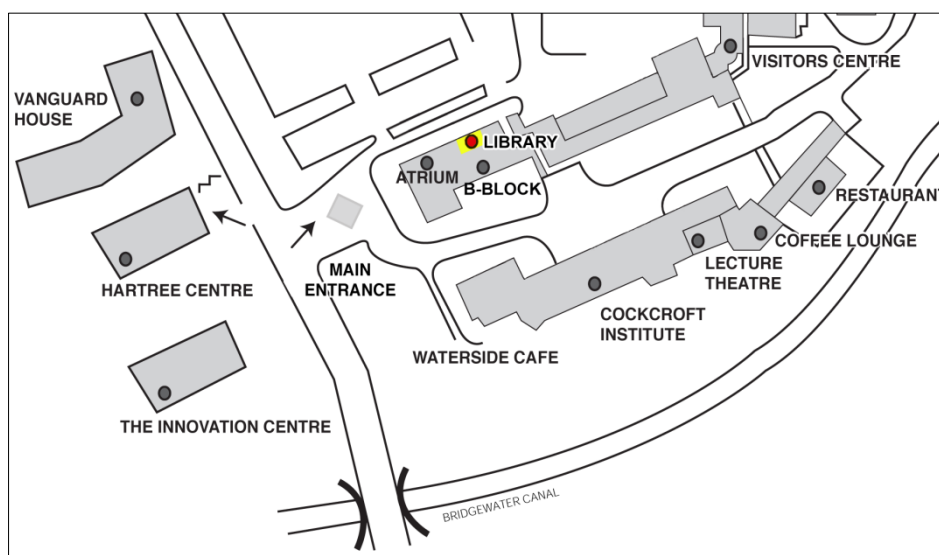

Any copies of a publication (such as a journal article) are delivered electronically in your inbox. Standards, patents and books are usually supplied on loan and must be returned to the lending library by the due date.

The ePublication Archive (ePubs)

ePubs is the institutional repository for the STFC laboratories. ePubs records the scientific output of STFC and contains references and some full text files of articles, conference papers, technical reports, theses, books and other research outputs. Searching this database can provide you with information about the areas of research carried out at STFC and possible contacts for collaboration and sharing ideas.
